JonesSoda

Jones Soda has been around for awhile now, but that's not the reason I decided to write a product review on it. I tried it and I like it. It's some good stuff. But what makes this stuff cooler than your average pop, is that the good folks at Jones slap random images from photographers on the labels. This particular bottle features a shot by Montreal's Dan Mathieu. I didn't know Dan was into artsy stuff, but this picture is sick. So look for this bottle of Jones Soda at your store. And then write the company and tell them how much you love Dan's photo, and that they should pay him big bucks to do an entire Jones campaign. -Ryan Allan
